DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The amendments in response to the objections to the title of the Previous Office Action are acknowledged and appreciated, and the Examiner withdraws the objections.

Claim Objections

The amendments in response to the Claim Objections of the Previous Office Action are acknowledged and appreciated, and the Examiner withdraws the objections.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The amendments in response to the 35 USC 112 rejections of the Previous Office Action are acknowledged and appreciated, and the Examiner withdraws the rejections.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC §102/ 103

The cancellation of claim 96 renders this rejection moot.

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Art Unit: 1762

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 49,72-78 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1,7-12 of copending Application No. 10/479,722. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the instant claims recite a non- or poorly-conductive substrate whereas the substrate of '722 is conductive; the process steps are otherwise the same and it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art that the electrostatic fluidized bed process would have been capable of applying at least some coating powder to any substrate regardless of conductivity.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

3. Claims 49-67 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 29-42,44,45,47,48 of copending Application No. 10/534113. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because 1) both sets of the claims require non- or poorly-conductive substrates, and 2) the instant application applied a voltage to the chamber whereas the claim of '113 applies it to the bed via an electrode "positioned to influence the extent" of charging which could be on the chamber or nearby, which would be an obvious variation because of the expectation of comparable results.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Art Unit: 1762

4. Claims not rejected under the DP rejections are objected to for depending from a rejected base claim. Claimed subject matter is allowable for reasons cited in the previous Office action.
